Welcome to EMI Independent Study Distance Learning Site

<http://emilms.fema.gov/>

FEMA Independent Study (IS) courses are the Emergency Management Institute (EMI) distance learning courses. Courses here are intended for emergency management personnel, fire service personnel, first responders, Department of Homeland Security personnel, and the general public. Please also visit FEMA Independent Study Program to see a complete listing of EMI Independent Study courses that we offer.

NOTE: You may now access courses listed below without a username or password. However, it is still necessary to enter your demographic information on the exam submission page. Your Independent Study record will be updated with each successful exam completion. This will not be visible from your current on-line progress report. Confirmation email and certificate processes remain the same.

If the course does not launch in another window, you may have a pop-up blocker preventing the course from launching. You will need to disable all pop-up blockers when using this site, including pop-up blockers built into toolbars such as Yahoo and Google. You will be able to access these courses from IE, Safari, FireFox and Netscape browsers.
